Notice of Deficient Claim April 16, 2019

Dear [REDACTED]:

Thank you for submitting your claim in the New Jersey Tax Lien Settlements, but we require additional documentation in order for us to accept your claim as valid. We note that we previously sent you a request for further information, but don't believe we received any further information from you. Please email your response to info@NJTaxLienSettlements.com. We must receive your response by April 30, 2019, or you risk your claim being rejected.

Please include your Claim ID, [REDACTED], in your correspondence or the Claims Administrator may not be able to correct and process your claim.

Your claim requires additional review because:

- Your claimed amount is a round dollar amount, which, in our experience, suggests that the claimed amount is not accurate.
- Your claimed lien amount seems exceedingly high.

Please provide documentation for each New Jersey property claimed showing the face amount of the initial tax sale certificate purchased by a defendant within the class period of January 1, 1998 to February 28, 2009 and the interest rate listed.

Please note that failure to provide the information requested WILL result in the denial or partial denial of your claim. For more information about the settlements and for a list of defendants, please visit www.NJTaxLienSettlements.com and download the Notice. You may also email class counsel at jasonz@hbsslaw.com and/or sgassman@hausfeld.com.

Sincerely,

Claims Administrator

EXHIBIT D

Rules for NJ Tax Lien Antitrust Claims (from 5/21/19 conference call)

1. We will send a deficiency notice to those who have a claimed lien amount of over $10,000 (about 36 persons).
 - a. If a claimed lien amount is over $10,000 AND there is valid back-up documentation to substantiate the claimed lien amount, we can accept claimed lien amount of over $10,000.
 - b. If the claimed lien amount is over $10,000 AND there is no back-up documentation, there is just a submitted claim form, we will utilize a class-wide average for such claimant's claimed lien amount (the formula for average lien amount is identified below). We will send all claimants in this category a deficiency letter which will include an explanation that this is what we will do.
 - c. If there are duplicate claims filed by the same claimant, and one claim has a claimed lien amount of over $10,000, and one claimed lien amount is under $10,000 (like the example Kenny provided on 5/20/19), we will send such claimant a deficiency letter and ask them to explain why there are duplicate claims, and to identify which claim is valid and which one is not. If the claimant fails to respond, we will utilize a class-wide average again. The deficiency letter should state that if the claimant fails to respond, we will use a class-wide average claimed lien amount.
2. Anyone who has a lien that is a round number (about 60 persons), will receive a deficiency letter. For those whose round lien amounts exceed $10,000, they will be handled in accordance with paragraph number one above. For those whose round claim lien amounts are under $10,000, we will ask for further documentation, and if they fail to provide it, we will assign an average lien amount. We should identify that we will assign an average lien amount in the letters.
3. Any claimed lien amount of over $100,000, should be sent a deficiency letter, and if they don't respond with more information, then their claim will be rejected outright and won't be paid anything. We shouldn't be taking an average for those claims since they facially appear fraudulent.

4. Where there are multiple claims for the same property:
 - a. If there is back-up documentation, we need to check the back-up documentation to ensure each lien is for a different year.
 - b. For claims with no back-up documents, where the claimed lien amount was the same amount for multiple years, we send a deficiency letter asking them to provide more documents since it is unlikely the amounts would be the same from year to year.
 - i. If they don't provide the documentation to substantiate each claim, we take only one claim since they facially appear to be duplicate claims.
 - c. If the claims are for the same property but in different years are otherwise facially valid (the lien date was for different years, the interest rate is over zero percent, the lien was bought by a defendant, the claimed lien amount is not a round number, and is a reasonable number), we can accept multiple claims for same property.
5. Averaging. In cases where we need to assign a claimant an average lien amount, we will take the average claimed lien amount for the entire class database. However, before calculating the average, we will remove all previously rejected claims (including all previously rejected claims, and any claims that fall into category 3 and 4.b.i above). Then, for purposes of calculating the average only, we will then remove all claimants who need to be assigned an average claimed lien amount. Then, we will average the remaining claims and, that claimed lien amount will be assigned to any claimant who is due to receive an average claimed lien amount. We should disclose this computation in our deficiency letters to anyone who might be subject to receiving an average claimed lien amount.

6. Fraudulent claims in other cases. KCC wishes to undertake one final review of its databases to cross-check the claimants in the NJ Tax Liens database, with those who it has flagged as filing fraudulent claims in other cases. We should send a deficiency letter to any claimant in the NJ Tax Liens database that has also filed fraudulent claims in other cases.

7. Send a deficiency letter to those whose claimed lien amounts total less than $50. If no response, KCC will use their claimed lien amount without change.

Dear «FirstName» «LastName»:

Thank you for submitting your claim in the New Jersey Tax Lien Settlements, but we require additional documentation in order for us to accept your claim as valid. We note that we previously sent you a request for further information, but don't believe we received any further information from you. Please email your response to info@NJTaxLienSettlements.com. We must receive your response by June 28, 2019, or you risk your claim being rejected.

Please include your Claim ID, «ClaimID», in your correspondence or the Claims Administrator may not be able to correct and process your claim.

Your claim requires additional review because:

- Your claimed lien amount exceeds $10,000; however, we have not received eligible supporting documentation. If we do not receive documentation, you may only be eligible for up to an average lien amount.

Please provide documentation for each New Jersey property claimed showing the face amount of the initial tax sale certificate purchased by a defendant within the class period of January 1, 1998 to February 28, 2009 and the interest rate listed.

Please note that failure to provide the information requested may result in the denial or partial denial of your claim. For more information about the settlements and for a list of defendants, please visit www.NJTaxLienSettlements.com and download the Notice. You may also email class counsel at jasonz@hbsslaw.com and/or sgassman@hausfeld.com.

EXHIBIT F

Third Round Deficiency Letter Results

	Letter	Outcome
1	Sent a letter for two claims for the same property in the same year for different amounts	Based on documentation, first transaction was approved and the second was not
2	Sent a letter for 6 claims for claiming the same property in the same year for different amounts	The claims were updated so that 6 claims were added, 2 claims were removed as duplicates, one transaction removed as ineligible (0%), and the rest were no longer multiple claims for the same year for the same property
3	Sent a letter for 2 claims that claimed different years for the same property for the same lien amount	Dates were updated based on the provided documentation
4	Sent a letter for one claim that had a rounded lien amount	Original claim was combined; claim now split out into 4 additional claims (i.e. 5 claims) where 3 were eligible and one was a non-defendant and one was a 0% interest rate
5	Sent a letter for claiming a lien under $50	One property was ineligible because outside of class period and another claim was eligible for documented amount.
6	Sent a letter for a round claimed amount over $10,000	The eligible amount was lowered to documented amount (which is less than $10,000)
7	Sent a letter for two claims claiming the same year with different amounts	The documentation provided did not address the year in question
8	Sent a letter for claiming an amount over $10,000	The eligible amount was updated to a lower amount than claimed based on documentation
9	Sent a letter for claiming an amount over $10,000	The eligible amount was updated to a lower amount than claimed based on documentation
10	sent a letter for one claim under $50 and 4 claims sharing the same year but with different amounts	Documentation provided was not for the transactions claimed
11	Sent a letter for having a claim that was the same year but different amount as another claim for property, and also with a different year with same amount for another property	Based on documentation one transaction was removed as ineligible
12	Sent a letter for claiming same year with different amounts	The documentation supported both claimed transactions during same year
13	Sent a letter for claiming over $10,000	The documentation indicated a 0% interest rate and therefore ineligible.
14	Sent a letter for claiming a rounded amount	Claimant states they were a lien purchaser and therefore ineligible
